North Fork Chips Introduces Barbeque Chips.

The famed Long Island potato chip company spreads its wings with a new barbeque variety that is kettle-cooked in sunflower oil for a super-crispy taste, just like the original. Martin and Carol Sidor grow the potatoes on their 3rd generation family farm, supervising the chip-making process from spud to supermarket. A few years ago, they started their North Fork Potato Chip brand and have been appreciating national acclaim ever since.
